Mission Statement

By Word and Sacrament, we are sent to glorify God with our lives.

This week is filled with the various observances and festivities of the Independence Day of the United States. It's a cause to celebrate, as well as to reflect, on freedom. Such reflection is needed as freedom and moral license have blurred, with many now hailing moral license as if it were freedom. The difference is found in our capacity for goodness and the distinction between good and evil. Freedom, as taught by good philosophy, biblical wisdom, and good societies through the ages, is the power to do what is right and good. Moral license, however, is the power to do whatever we want, however evil or irresponsible it might be. Freedom has always been the mark of civilization, while moral license has been the rallying cry of barbarism. There is no common good with moral license, while freedom makes civil society possible. As Christians, this is an easy one for us to grasp and understand. Our faith teaches us that moral truth is a gift given by God. It helps to order our fallen nature. It prepares our hearts for virtue. While human persons are created good, we have a fallen nature and disordered attractions to everything under the sun. We have the power to pursue these wayward attractions and can rationalize and justify all kinds of evil, and even call good things evil and evil things good. In light of this inclination, we need instruction. God, therefore provides a natural moral law, written on the human heart and discernible within the consciences of all people of goodwill. The moral law, as Saint Paul teaches, is humanity's pedagogue – its tutor. It shows us the right path to live according to our nature and sound reason. As the moral law teaches us, it clears the way for true freedom. Freedom is a maturity of our souls that empower us to act above our passions and desires. It allows us to see the proper order of things, and to do what is right. We need to grow into our freedom and safeguard it, so that our freedom itself doesn't become enslaved. St. Paul summarizes these truths when he writes: "For freedom Christ has set us free; stand fast and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery."

This understanding of freedom from St. Paul helps to highlight the proper relationship between the moral law and freedom. Oftentimes, the moral law and freedom are falsely portrayed as being in contradiction, as if the two are in tension with one "versus" the other. The reality, however, is that there is no "versus" between the moral law and freedom, but rather a rapport of "via," meaning "by way of," which demonstrates that the moral law is in service to freedom and freedom benefits from the discipline of the law. The moral law helps the person to be free. The person who repeatedly breaks the moral law and lives by moral license is enslaving freedom. He is not free. He is a slave to his passions and whims. For the person to mature fully, he needs both the law and freedom, and together they pave the way for a virtuous life. Virtue is best understood as a good habit that governs human action, orders its passions, and guides its conduct according to faith and reason. It's the power to make the right choice, at the right time, in the right situation. As the law secures freedom, so the law and freedom become the means for grace to ennoble the person to exercise virtue and live a holy life. Examples of virtues include, faith, hope and love, as well as prudence, justice, temperance, and fortitude. Other virtues include patience, compassion, gentleness, self-control, and generosity. The person of good will, who perhaps has no religious faith, can aspire to freedom and the process of exercising natural virtue in his own interior life. The natural virtues, upon which the Christian virtues flourish, are available and justly expected of every civil person by their spouse, family, society, culture, and professional association. The Christian witness can be of supreme help to others without religious faith who are trying to live up to the call for virtue and goodness.

These are important reminders as we celebrate the Independence Day of the United States. They serve as the foundation of the founding principles and ideals of the United States. While humanity is fallen, freedom is possible, but only through the moral law and virtue.

Peace, Joy, and Love,

Fr. Brian J. Roby

UPDATE:

In November 2021 the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops changed the name of the Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) to the Order of Christian Initiation of Adults (OCIA) as part of their movement to update all liturgical texts to reflect greater fidelity to the original Latin. We at St. Mary have chosen to adopt this change from RCIA to OCIA beginning this year.

Learning the Catholic Faith is a lifelong process. For many of us, it may have had a rocky start from a lack-luster classroom experience, being a disinterested student, or a lack of exposure to the teachings of the Faith. Catholicism 101 is here to fill in the gaps from your Religious Education experience as well as serve as an aid in your lifelong learning of the Faith. Not only will we talk about WHAT the Church teaches, but WHY she teaches it. Hopefully along the way we will find ourselves falling deeper into the heart of Christ as we learn more about His heart for us.

"Always be ready to give an explanation to anyone who asks you for a reason for your hope." 1 Peter 3:15

Remember, anyone 18 and under can receive a free lunch between 11:00 a.m. and 12:00 p.m., Monday through Friday through July 24. Thank you to our awesome cafeteria staff for all their hard work this summer feeding the children in our community!

"Then the king will say to those on his right, 'Come, you who are blessed by my Father. Inherit the kingdom prepared for you from the foundation of the world. For I was hungry and you gave me food, I was thirsty and you gave me drink, a stranger and you welcomed me, ill and you cared for me, in prison and you visited me.' Then the righteous will answer him and say, 'Lord, when did we see you hungry and feed you, or thirsty and give you drink? When did we see you a stranger and welcome you, or naked and clothe you? When did we see you ill or in prison, and visit you?' And the king will say to them in reply, 'Amen, I say to you, whatever you did for one of the least brothers of mine, you did for me.'" Matthew 25:34-40

Stewardship Bulletin Reflection | June 30, 2024 | Thirteenth Sunday in Ordinary Time

WIS 1:13-15, 2:23-24; PS 30:2, 4, 5-6, 11, 12, 13; 2 COR 8:7, 9, 13-15; MK 5:21-43 OR 5:21-24, 35b-43

Our readings today remind us that our God is a tender and loving God.

In our Gospel, Jesus heals an ill child. An anxious and loving father sought after Jesus so that his daughter might be cured of her illness. As Jesus was traveling to heal her, they got word that the daughter had died. In that deeply painful moment, a moment no parent wants to experience, Jesus turned and said, "Do not be afraid; just have faith."

Recall a moment when you felt like you hit rock bottom. Maybe you received devastating news, someone died, you lost your job, you were fighting addiction, or you were suffering mentally, spiritually or physically. Maybe you are living that moment or maybe that moment is yet to come.

In that time, imagine Jesus looking at you and saying, "Do not be afraid; just have faith." Remember this verse. May it bring you peace and comfort. Recall that in our First Reading, God does not rejoice in our suffering and death. He rejoices in our faith and our trust in His glorious plan for our lives.

Whether we are healed like the little girl in our Gospel in this life, or we carry our suffering with us until we reach the next, if we remain faithful, Jesus will one day say to us, "Little girl or little boy, I say to you, arise!" Today, let us reflect on how much our Good and Gracious God loves us. Remember that whatever we are suffering in this life, do not be afraid, God is right there with us.

Sponsorship Opportunities for the Bulletin

Why Advertise in a Church Bulletin?

- Advertising in the Weekly Parish Bulletin is one of the best returns for your advertising dollar.
- The advertising expense is tax deductible.
- It is localized advertising; it's in the area that you serve.
- Advertising helps promote your business throughout the community.
- The bulletin gives excellent exposure to the business person because it's reaching more clients.
- Parishioners feel secure dealing with bulletin sponsors.
- The Parish and the Businesses both benefit.
- We spotlight a sponsor each week.

If you do not have a business, but personally know of someone who does, please help the Parish by referring that person or business.

For more information on sponsorship, please contact Samantha McMichael at the Parish Office, 270-233-4196 or samantha.mcmichael@stmarywoods.com
